Informed Policy and Practice in Education in Europe

The EIPPEE project is a European Commission funded initiative that aims to enhance the use of evidence in policy and practice in education. The project is led by the Centre for Analysis of Social Exclusion (CASE) at the Institute for Social and Economic Research at the University of Essex.

Project progress

The project has made significant progress in the first year. The EIPPEE website (www.eippee.org) has been launched, and the project team has been actively engaging with stakeholders across Europe and beyond.

EIPPEE update

The project is developing an online portal that will enable users to search multiple websites simultaneously. A search engine that enables users to search multiple websites simultaneously.

A 'map of resources, indexed by region and topic; and contain completely different resources.

The search engine will enable users to search the content of all, or a subset, of resources in the map of resources.

The map of resources will seek to be a comprehensive list of European databases and portals.
